Netflix is spreading the holiday cheer with its brand new holiday movie, The Princess Switch. Vanessa Hudgens plays the part of Duchess Margaret and her doppleganger, Stacy De Novo, and when the two meet in the fictional country of Belgravia, they decide to swap lives. The film's story is reminiscent of The Parent Trap and The Princess Diaries — movies that were adapted from books. But is The Princess Switch based on a book too? While it would make for a great holiday read, it turns out that The Princess Switch isn't actually based on a book. The screenplay comes from TV writers Robin Bernheim and Megan Metzger, who previously worked on Hallmark's When Calls the Heart series together. While this seems to be Metzgers first foray into the holiday movie genre, Bernheim wrote the 2016 Hallmark movie I'll Be Home for Christmas starring James Brolin and Mena Suvari. The Princess Switch tells the story of Stacey De Novo, an American baker who is invited to participate in a baking competition in Europe. The competition brings Stacey to Belgravia, where she meets Margaret, the Duchess of Montenero, who is on her way to marry the country's prince, Prince Edward (Sam Palladio). Margaret is tired of being in the spotlight and craves a life of normalcy, and Stacey is just looking for a little more luxury and romance in her life. So when they realize that they look exactly alike, the dopplegangers decide to take a break from their own lives, and temporarily swap places to see and feel how the other half lives. In the trailer for The Princess Switch, viewers can catch a sneak peek at all the hijinks that ensue when the women try to immerse themselves in each other's completely different lives. Stacey ends up having to pretend she knows British lingo, royal etiquette, and how to ride a horse, while scheduled to spend two days exclusively with the prince. Margaret finds herself getting close to Stacey's coworker and friend, Kevin (Nick Sagar) and his daughter, while she prepares for the baking competition — and yep, she has no idea how to bake. While the two try to adjust to a life completely opposite from their own, they also find themselves falling for each other's beaus, so it will be exciting to see what happens when they swap back to their own lives. NetflixWith the release of The Princess Switch, it looks like Netflix is continuing to up their holiday movie game, which is great for fans who were once limited to just Hallmark or Lifetime for original holiday fare. Last year, the streamer released A Christmas Prince, which was so popular that it has a sequel coming, called A Christmas Prince; The Royal Wedding, which is set to release on Nov. 30. Christmas Chronicles, which releases on Nov. 22. The movie comes from producer Chris Columbus and tells the story of two siblings who sneak into Santa's (Kurt Russell) sleigh on Christmas Eve, accidentally crash it, and then help him figure out how to save Christmas. The Holiday Calendar, which is already streaming on Netflix, tells the story of a talented photographer (Kat Graham) who inherits her grandmother's magical Christmas advent calendar, which seemingly predicts the future and helps her find love. The streamer is also featuring a few classic Christmas movies this year, including Love Actually, Bad Santa, and Bad Santa 2. With a line-up like this, I know my Netflix watchlist is going to be full of holiday content, and honestly, I already feel the Christmas cheer. The Princess Switch premieres on Nov. 16 on Netflix. dings]Merry Christmas. Thank you. Christmas wishes have been known to come true. Uh, excuse me. Paul? - Stacy, hey. - Hey. I was thinking about you the other day. - You were? - Last Christmas? - That lodge in Vermont? - Yeah, that was pretty terrific. Hey, sweetie. Oh, I'm sorry.- I'm Taylor.- Stacy. Stacy De Novo. I'm sure Paul mentioned me. Actually, no, he didn't. Was he supposed to? Stacy and I dated for a while. Yeah. Honey, if we're gonna catch that train, we better run. We're spending Christmas weekwith Paul's parents. Well, that sounds...- big.- It is.- Do you have any plans for Christmas?- Yeah.Big plans. Super huge.Like what?I will be competingat a baking contest in Belgravia.No, in fact, I got to go and start packingmy big old suitcase right now.See ya.So much for Christmas wishes.[chuckles]It isn't Christmas yet.[Stacy]I guess we're going to Belgravia![Olivia] Wow, it's Clara's housefrom The Nutcracker.Yeah? Well, if the Mouse King shows up, I'm out of here. [giggles] [gasps] Hey, can we stop in town? They have a huge North Pole Christmas fairwith Santa, with everything! And maybe we could evenget some stockings for the fireplace. We're supposed to be at Wembley at noonto prep the kitchen. It wouldn't hurt to be a little early. Please! I mean, aren't you some more over here.Oh.I'm sorry. You look so familiar.I've heard that before.Well, you weren't in Chicago?[chuckles]They really go all outfor Christmas here, huh?[old man]It's in honor of the royal wedding.The Prince is getting married to the Duchess of Montenaro- on New Year's Day.- Is she pretty?We haven't seen much of her.The Duchess is what you'd call camera-shy.Doesn't allow her picture to be taken.Well, maybe she's justa really private person.If you want to get a look,you might still catch her.I heard she was touring the setfor the royal baking competition.Huh?["Dance of the Sugar Plum Fairy" playing]It's The Nutcracker.That's the Children's Ballet Conservatory. It would be so awesome to dance with them. - Maybe you can. - Really? I hear they have a summer program. Can we watch just for a little while? Please? Five minutes. You guys go ahead. I'll take care of this. Uh, one of each. [old man] Are you people in a hurry? Uh, I'm trying to get to Wembleya little early to set up for the competition. I'm one of the contestants. Well, you know what they say. Life is what happens when you're busymaking other plans. That's the second timesomeone said that to me. Maybe you need to hear it. Right. Merry Christmas. [honks] Hey! Slow down! Would you watch where you're going? Who's yelling? A tourist, sir. Hmm. Probably from the States. Probably. [Stacy] Piping bag, prep spoons, rolling pan, sifter, and sauté pan. It is all here. Alphabetized the equipment list? Yeah, of course I did. I don't like the handle on this one. - Get a new one tomorrow? - Great. Stacy De Novo. What a surprise! Brianna Michaels. I didn't know you were going to be here. I won the competition last year.

[Stacy]Oh! Well, congratulations. And what are you makingfor your pièce de résistance? Cheetos à la mode? Hey! I like Cheetos. - And you are? - Kevin Richards. I work with Stacy. Stacy and I wentto Le Cordon Bleu together. Yeah, Brianna was really closeto some of the faculty. They knew I had talent. Oh, yeah, like when you sauced Professor Kendall's berries?[chuckles sarcastically][gasps]Oh, I'm so sorry.Let me help you.Thanks. I'm fine.Enchanté.- She seemed...- [Olivia] Mean?I better go clean up.- [woman] Oh!- I am so sorry.No problem.[both gasp]Who are you?Lady Margaret Delacourt,Duchess of Montenaro.- You're the one who's marrying the Prince?- Yes.Oh, right. You're here for that tour.Uh, look, I am really sorryfor running into you.I'm usually not this messy,uh, but I'm one of the contestantsat the baking contest,and there was an accidentin the kitchen.I'm sorry. I'm Stacy De Novo, by the way.Nice to meet you.Oh!Miss De Novo.Did you say you were a baker?Uh, yeah. As a matter of fact,I have my own shop in Chicago.Well, as you know, I'm getting married, and I could really use an expert opinion my wedding cake. From me? The Royal pastry chef herehas a way of doing things, and I'm not sure they're to my liking. Well, when it comes to wedding cakes, the bride is always right. Precisely. I know it's short notice, but would you join me at the palacefor a consultation later on today?A consultation?Wow!I would be so honored.- Shall we say in an hour or so?- An hour?Yeah, sure.I mean, I was going to go sightseeingwith my friends, but I'm sure they'll understandif I tell them...Oh, no. go together.No!What I mean isOlivia doesn't want to go shoppingfor some silly, old apron.Maybe you and I can watchsome more of the ballet.And you can askhow much the summer program costs.Liv, you know we could never affordsomething like that.Meet you back at the cottage in an hour.Deal?Deal.Hey![laughs]I really wish you and Stacy were a thing.Stacy and I have been friendssince high school. If sparks were gonna fly, we'd know by now. Maybe you're just a little too intensefor someone like me. People change. Not that much. [Mrs. Donatelli] It's uncanny. Do you think we could be related somehow? Three generations ago, your great-grandmother's cousin, Cecil, fled the country after a dalliancewith a vulgar American divorcée. It was rumored be N'Ofrio, but the families lost touch. De Novo... It could be Statey, I think we were destined to run into each other. Don't you? I don't know about destined...[chuckles]But I am so happyto help you with your cake.I do need a favor,but it has nothing to dowith baked goods.What kind of a favor?Would you like some tea?Sure.I'm supposed to marry Prince Edwardon New Year's Day,but I don't know anythingabout the people hereor what a normal life here,or anywhere, is like.So, you want me to teach youhow to be normal?No. I want to be you. I want to be come me. Get out! It would only be for two days. No one would even notice. I'm kind of guessing your fiance would notice. Edward is leaving town tonightto meet with the Spanish Ambassador. He won't be backuntil the day after tomorrow. So, you wouldn't have to dealwith him at all. You know, it doesn't sound likeyou're too excited about getting marriage? Edward and I met twicebefore we were engaged. It's not that he's unpleasant. He's just very... formal. Does he happen to haveone of those fancy limousines? I believe so. Why do you ask? Not important. Look, the only thing on my scheduleis breakfast with the King and Queen. You can spend the rest of your timerelaxing right here. Please. If there's anything I could offer you... anything at

Couldn't find one that fits.Stace, aprons are one-size-fits-all.Right.What I mean is I couldn't find onethat fits... my personality.Did you get a haircut?Yes. Yup.Sure did.- Just out of the blue?- Yup.I've known you 12 years,you do not do out of the blue.There's a first time for everything.Well, it's getting late.I better catch some Z's. Good night. Good night. Good night. Catch some Z's"?Does Lady Margaretreally wear this to sleep?[chuckles]If you mean, does she wear a propernightgown to bed instead of feety pajamas, then the answer is yes. So... I guess it's just you and mefor the next two days. Indeed. Have you worked with a Duchessfor a long time? Since she was a little girl.- And you're okay with us trading places?[sighs]Well, the Duchesshas always been rather spontaneous.And, uh, it's not my placeto have an opinion.But you have one anyway. The dear girlhas been through so much already. Losing both her parents so young, and now, all the responsibility of becoming a royalwhen she doesn't even really knowwho she is. The truth is I would do anything for her, which means that for the next two days, I will do anything for you. [clears throat] So, uh, should I bring you a fresh pot of tea? No, thanks. I think I'll be fine. Yes. I believe you will be. [sighs] [giggles] [laughs] Oh! [gasps] [laughs] Hello, darling. [giggles] [knocking on door] Mrs. Donatelli? [knock to see you, my dear. I've been talking with chefabout the menu? Prithee, tell. It's the salad course. Chef was thinkingabout a peanut sauce for salad dressing. But I seem to recall that one of your relatives is allergic. I just can't recall which one. My mother's side. The Pembrokes. Lord Percival? Didn't he die last spring?

Mmm.Yes. Yes, he did.Suddenly, in fact.The dear thing.So we won't have to worryabout poor Percy.You know? I never did like peanuts.Hmm.Well, then we'll find something else.Oh, you all right?Edward had the good sense to turn aroundbefore he arrived at the airport. Yes, I thought it wrong to be concerned with affairs of statewith our wedding just around the corner. And I'm determined to spendas much time together as we canover the next few days. How smashing! And now, you can both attendthe St. Andrew's Shelter Charity Ball tonight. How doubly smashing!Which reminds me.I have something for you.Oh.Wow!I had it made for your engagement present.I hope it's suitable.Extremely suitable.Extremely suitable.Extremely suitable.Erince Edward]Good.Well, in the meantime,I've spoken to Miles at the stables,- and he'll be ready?For us to do what?I thought a nice ridethrough the snow storm last winter. We did. Terrible. Dreadful, really. But we have heated stables. Ah, well... [chuckles]- How very nice for the horses!- Yes, well, you know what they say. A warm horse is a happy horse. And there's nothing better than a happy horse. Hmm. Well, I better changeif we're going riding. - Yes. - Yes, all right. - Frank? - Sir? I want you to keep a close eyeon the Duchess.- She seems, um...- Different?Hmm.Different.Hmm.All right, we have our eggs, our pancakes.Should be enough.Breakfast is ready.You never burn anything.Uh, I guess I'm a bit nervouswith the big contest coming up.Maybe we should eat out.- Splendid?Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Splendid!Sple a trim. Thought I'd mix things up a little. Are you feeling okay? Super. Uh, will your father be joining us? [chuckles] Father went out to get that sauté pan, and he said he'd pick you up a new apron. Super-duper. So, where should we go? There was a place right on the square. Where we bought the Christmas tree, remember? Right! The Christmas tree.Tell you what, you get the coats, and I'll wash the dishes, deal?Deal.Secret handshake?[clears throat][Margaret]Oh! [laughs]Hey! [giggles]Okay.[phone continues vibrating][phone ringing]Oh, come on, Margaret. Pick up.[phone continues ringing][clears throat]Was Your Grace having difficulty with her mobile telephone?Oh, no. It's nothing.Just a dropped signal.Would you like borrow mine?Oh, no. I wouldn't want to impose.Oh, it's no imposition.The Duchess is quite capableof placing her own calls, Mr. De Luca.I was just trying to be of service.Well then, you may take these to the laundry.It's that way.[quietly] The laundry.For God's sake!- Shall we?-

We shall.Good.Oh, dear God![chuckles awkwardly]Is there a problem?Not at all. It's just...The horses in Montenaro are a bit shorter,like large ponies.But... no problem.[laughs]None in the least.Here we go.- Are you all right?- Mm-hmm.I thought you saidyou were a competitive rider.Oh. Uh, I'm quite competitive indeed.[laughs]It's the pants.They must have shrunk in the royal wash. Huh. Wouldn't want to split a seam. All right, there we go. You know, we really don't have to do this. Oh, no. We are scheduled to go riding, so that's what we're going to do.- Well, then let me give you a hand. - All right. Ready? One, two, three. - Better? - Much. Good. Okay. Right. [clicking tongue] All right. Oh! [laughs] [Stacy chuckles awkwardly][sighs]Here. Let me help you. I'm quite all right. Well, just in case. [giggles]You have something in your eye. This really is quite breathtaking. Yes. Yes, it is. I come here when I need to get away. Do you need to get away. Do you need to get away. This really is quite breathtaking. Yes. Yes, it is. I come here when I need to get away. Do you need to get away. Do you need to get away. This really is quite breathtaking. Yes. Yes, it is. I come here when I need to get away. Do you need to g share them with.[laughs] I doubt you'd be interested to the details of foreign trade.- Why not?- You shouldn't have to worry about that. Because I'm not bright enough? No, because you have a wedding to plan. So I should stick to thingslike polishing my tiara? No, I didn't mean it like that. Well, I think it's precisely what you meant. It's getting a bit chilly. I think it's time to head back.Margaret...[Stacy clicks tongue][phone vibrates]Hello.Ugh! Boy, am I glad you picked up.[Margaret on phone]I was going to call you. There's been a bit of a snagat this end.What happened?Hey there, Princess.Oh! You figured us out!It wasn't rocket science.You okay with this, Liv?[Olivia on phone]You kidding? I get to hang mind where he's supposed to be.The fact is he came backto spend time with you, with me, with...I don't know, us?Oh, and you didn't.I suppose it must have slipped my mind.Well, you need to get back here pronto.I'm afraid I can't do that.- Why not?- With all the the sauté pan.- Super. You decided to eat out? Stacy's decided she's gonna bespontaneous from now on. I'll believe that when I see it.- I mean it!- Okay. Then let's forget about that scheduleof yours and just hang out. Super. You sure about that when I see it.- I mean it!- Okay. Then let's forget about that when I see it.- I mean it!- Okay. Then let's forget about that you? The Prince would like to see the Duchessin the Portrait Library. I'll be sure to let her know.Oh, Mr. De Luca.Ms. Donatelli.These need to go to the kitchen.["Joy to the World" playing][laughs] Oops!What do you think?- It's pretty.- Let me see.Oh! Gorgeous!Okay.Huh?And what's that supposed to be?Rudolph!Rudolph the blood-sucking Reindeer?[laughs]Okay, smarty-pants, let me see yours.Christmas should be about love.I've never seen passed down from generation for over 300 years. That's a lot of generations. Granny was a bit of a rebel. She had an opinion on everythingand wasn't afraidto let everyone know what it was. The palace wasn't used to it. She sounds like she was ahead of her time. Palace could use someone like her again. So, you wanted to see me? Yes, I did accepted.Glad to hear it.Margaret, I know how difficultthis must be for you.We hardly know each other, but I want to make this marriage work. We have a... duty to make it work. Precisely. You know, there's something about you, something I hadn't really noticed before. I can't quite put my finger on it. Like my interest in foreign policy. Let's go with that.
Paul.I'm glad to hear you say that.[giggles] [gasps]Prepare for annihilation!Okay. What?Okay. two versus one?[all laugh]Oh, my God! Are you okay?I don't know.I'm sor...[exclaims][laughs]You look...Thank you.And you look...Thank you.Shall we?We shall.Oh, uh, wait. Your tie.There you go.[women giggle][giggling]What's so amusing?You and Your Andrew'swill be thrilled. How many families actually livein the shelter? I don't know exactly. Quite a few. I didn't...- I have an idea. Yes? How about you play something for us? Oh! Oh, no, no. I'm very rusty. Nonsense!

 hear you're quite gifted.Oh.Who would like to hear the Duchess play?[crowd applauds]You can't say no.[exhales shakily]Stage fright?Something like that.How about we play a duet?"Carol of the Bells. "You play the rest.- I don't know the chords.- Well, they're simple.It's these four notes.[plays notes]Right.[plays "Carol of the Bells"]- [song ends]- [crowd cheers and applauds]Bravo!Wasn't she wonderful?["O Christmas Tree" plays on piano][sighs]Have you seen the Duchess?I believe I saw Her Ladyshipin the gazebo.Ah, thank you.May I just say, sir?The two of you make a fine couple.That's very kind of you.[Prince Edward]I've been looking for you.Edward, I hope you know! didn't mean to offend your parentsby asking about the shelter. You didn't offend anyone. Maybe it'd be betterif I didn't say anything at all. That would be dreadfully dull. In fact, I've arranged a carriage ridefirst thing in the morning, just the two of us, so you can spend more time talking, and I can spend more time listening. [chuckles] I don't think that's a very good idea.I think it's a fabulous idea.Speaking of fabulous ideas,they'll be expecting usto have the first dance.Oh, dear!I'm not very good at dancing.Well, you know what they say.Practice makes perfect.- Here?- Why not?["It Came Upon the Midnight Clear" plays]So then what happened?[Margaret on phone]We were soaked to the skin.[Stacy on phone]Kevin can be so immature. He is very endearing. Kevin is like a puppy. If you're nice to him, he'll follow you anywhere. [chuckles] We're going sightseeing tomorrow. To see the St. Nicholas Fountain. Wait, but that wasn't in the schedule. Why would you throw out the schedule? [knocking on door] Yes? Hey. I forgot my toothpaste.Can I borrow yours?Sure.[laughing]Where is it?Everything okay?Yup. I'm great.- Good night. Have you ever seen Kevinwith his shirt off?Ew! Kevin? No.But Edward...Edward looked so good in a tuxedo.Edward was born in a tuxedo.So, you and Kevin aren't an item?No, there hasn't been anyone in his lifesince Olivia's mom left.Why do you wanna know?Just curious.Well, keep calm and carry on.[Stacy on phone]You too.[gasps]Whew!Quite hot![carriage approaches]Milady.Off we go.So, now that I have you alone,you can tell me the truth.Uh, about what?Anything and everything.Oh.But how about we startwith what you think about the charity workwe're doing with St Andrew's?[laughs]St. Andrew's! Of course.Well, if I'm being honest...Having a ball to raise moneyis a wonderful thing to do.But...But you really need to be more involved.- How?- Schedule a day to visit the shelter.Get to know the people.It's never been done before.Which means it needs to be donesooner than later.You sound like my grandmother.I'll take that as a compliment. "He sprang to his sleigh, to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle, and away they all flewlike the down of a thistle. "Isn't she wonderful? Reading to the children like that? The Duchess is very special. "And I heard him exclaimas he rose out of sight, 'Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night. "Yes? Is it true you're really a princess? Not yet.
But I will beafter I marry Prince Edward. Are you in love with him? [children giggle] Very much. I wish I could be a princess in your heart. Can we all please say, "Thank you, Lady Margaret" for her time here today? [in unison] Thank you, Lady Margaret for her time here today? [in unison] Thank you, Lady Margaret for her time here today? Lady Margaret!You're very welcome. Is that your Christmas tree?Yes, it is. Where are the presents? We don't have the budget for presents. What about the money from the ball? It is earmarked for the essentials: food, clothes. So the children don't get any toys? Toys are in short supply. But we usually manageto find a wee little something to pop in their stockingson Christmas morning. I trust it was a good visit? It was very educational. The families here don't have a real Christmas treeor presents for the children. Unless we do the shopping, and the baking. You and I? Why not? You've already made the proper gesture, Your Grace. A gesture isn't what Christmas is about. We have the afternoon free.Well...It's a very ambitious undertaking.So I suppose we'd better get right to it.[squeals]Oh! Uh, sorry.That wasn't very dignified.It's all right. I liked it actually.Frank, the nearest toy emporium to the guide book, the fountain is right up ahead.Can I get a candy cane?Yeah. There you go. Knock yourself out.[chuckles]You know, there is a legend that saysthe St. Nicholas Fountain never freezesbecause of the warmthof the Christmas spirit.I'm guessing there's an underground spring.Well, I like the legend better.You know what?So do I.[chuckles][man]Excuse me? Are you Stacy name please?Yeah, sure. I'm Kevin Richards.[Delaney]And how long have you been a team?- [Kevin] A long time now.- [Stacy] Very.[Prince Edward]This is nice.[Prince Edward] alien invasion? If you're going to savethe Earth from an alien invasion, you should probably do itby diplomacy not warfare. [scoffs]- [gun sounds] Yes. We'll need about a dozen. Ooh! And a few of these as well. Edward, look what they have. Ooh! It's a matwith... large colored circles. [laughs] You've never played Twister before? Ah, it's a game. Take off you

I changed my mind. Let's go see Santa.- Yeah!- We just saw Santa.- Yeah, but he and I didn't go deep.Oh! Oh, my goodness! I feel so... so faint! First, you wanna go shopping. Now, you wanna see Santa. What's going on with you? Come on, Liv. Spill. Excuse me. Sorry to be a bother. My car has run out of petrol. The station is down the street, but I can't push it myself. Think you could give an old man a hand? Of course we can. - Yes, here we go. - Just hot. Thank you. Wait a second. I know you. On the square in town, you had one of those booths. Closed early today. Rheumatism's acting up. The car's right outside. Great! Let's go. Okay. Oh, wait! I see it. - Here it is. - Ah! - Yes. Close one. - Right. - Cooled down? - I see it. - Here it is. - Ah! - Yes. Close one. - Right. - Cooled down? - I see it. - Here it is. - Ah! - Yes.  Yes.There we go. I feel much better now.It's fine.Here. Try this.[chuckles]Where did a Duchess learnto bake like this?My father.Your father?The Grand Duke of Montenaro baked cookies?Best cookies in the world.You miss him, don't you?I'm generally not the sentimental type,but doing things like this helpskeep a piece of the past alive.[Prince Edward]Yes, I know what you mean.I used to love the smellof turkey roasting at Christmas.It meant my cousins were coming overto play. That was a long time ago.It's still all right. [laughs] Here. Okay. Hang on. I think there's a couple more. I wrapped that one. Your Highness wrappedthe presents himself?- Really?- A few. With a little help. Taking the time to wrap a giftis part of the gift itself. It's what we say in Montenaro anyway. Well, it's not very dignified for a royal. It's always dignified to be kind, Frank.- Right. Shall we?- Yes.- Do you see what's going on out there?- I do. [King George] I don't like it. There's something about that girl. George! She's a breath of fresh air. And it seems your sonis falling in love with her. Yes. Well, I suppose that's all that matters. You know that girl. George! She's a breath of fresh air. And a happy New Year II We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We wish you a Merry Christmas JJ We given us so much this Christmas. Well, it was all the Duchess's idea. Well, it was a very gracious gesture. That's just it. Christmas is about morethan just a gesture, which is why I've decided that Lady Margaret and I are going to make it a tradition to come here once a monthand get to know you all. That's wonderful. Excuse me. You're standing under the mistletoe.[Mrs. McBride]Oh!Ah, so we are!- Who wants to go play Twister?- Twister? My favorite. Come on, Frank.That's not reallyin my job description, sir.It is now. Come on.Oh! That was the best spaghettiI've ever had.Since you're doing the heavy liftingat the competition tomorrow,I figured it's the least I could do.- So, are we going out tonight?
Ooh!- You're going to bed.- [grumbles]We have an early start tomorrow.We got to be at Wembley by 8:00.- But...- Pajamas.Now.Can Stacy tuck me in?Sure.She never runs out of energy, does she?Her mom was like that.Do you miss her mother?- You know me better than that, Stace.- [chuckles]Karen and I weren't meant to be.Like you and Paul.Well, you're right.We weren't.[knocks]So I guess you're leaving tonight.I don't have a choice.I wish you don't want to do them?Something like that.That's not fair.It's complicated,but I'll never forget youand your father.You'l always be special to me. But you're meant to be here. I'm afraid I don't getto decide things like that. You should. [sighs] You know, I think this triphas done you a lot of good. You do? I mean, it's almost likeyou're not the same person. [laughs] - Please! - No, I mean it. There's just something less... intense about you. I don't know. Just being here, making Christmas ornaments, singing carols. I mean, all those little moments with you. It's what life's really about. That is the nicest thingyou've ever said to me. Well, it's true. So...- Wanna watch a Christmas movie? - Sure. Which one? The... one with Santa. Stace, they all got Santa. [chuckles] [laughs] Right. Then you choose. [Kevin] This one. Ooh! Your favorite? - No it's your favorite.- Right.I was just messing with you.I'll pop the corn.[Prince Edward]I've learned so much from you.Like how to them.You have a good heart, Edward.You're going to do just fine.As long as you're here to help me.Well, I suppose it's time to turn in.I wanted to give you something. Didn't have time to wrap it, but... probably for the best. "Veritas, Anoris, Amare." "Truth, honor, and...love. "The family crest. The one from the painting. It belonged to your grandmother. Margaret, if I'm being truthful... I was worried about us, about the wedding, about...- not knowing who you are.- Yeah. But after today, I'm not worried anymore. You really are Prince Charming. I...- Did I do something wrong?- No. No, you did everything right. Well, then I'll see your Duchess in the morning. Isniffles] There is nothing like a happy ending to make someone cry. Endings usually aren't very happy. Hey, what is it, Stace? I don't know. Just feeling sentimental again. Must be the movie. Well, speaking of sentimental... Don't kill me. I got you a little something. But it's not Christmas yet. - It's not for Christmas. - Then what's it for? It's in your stocking. Open it. What do you think? It's the most beautiful giftI've ever received. Thank you so much. May I? Look, I know... we've been friends for so long. But these last few days, I... I felt like it could be more. At least... to me. I think you felt it too. - Something wrong?- No. Yes. I mean, it's me. I should not have done that. - It's okay. - No, it's ... It's not. Can we just pretend this never happened? Why? Please, you just have to trust me on this. Yeah, sure. Whatever you say. Thank you. Good night. Good night. [clock chiming] [knocking on door]I will be right outside. Thank you. [Stacy] So, did you get to doeverything you wanted? Almost. And you and Edward got on all right? Yeah. Everything set for your wedding. Splendid. You know, Edward got on all right? Yeah. Everything set for your wedding. Splendid. You know, Edward got on all right? Yeah. Everything set for your wedding. Splendid. You know, Edward got on all right? Yeah. Everything set for your wedding. Splendid. You know, Edward got on all right? Yeah. Everything set for your wedding. Splendid. You know, Edward got on all right? Yeah. Everything set for your wedding. Yeah. Ye is the one who...You're in love with Edward!And you're in love with Kevin!Oh!Well, this wasn't supposed to happen.No, it wasn't.So, what do we do?Nothing.You go back to being the Duchess, and I hop on a plane back to Chicagoas soon as the competition's over.Oh, I believe this belongs to you.[shutter clicking]What?[shutter clicking]Whoa! [yells] [sighs with satisfaction]Ow!Is it really you?[chuckles]It's really me.[chuckles]It's really me.[chuckles]It really sou.Well, do you haveto sound so disappointed?No, no, no.I'm really glad that you're back.It's just I really wishMargaret didn't have to go.And now she has to marrythat creepy, old princewho probably smells like mothballs.Okay, first of all, the Princedoes not smell like mothballs, and he's definitely not creepy. Then what was he? Dreamy. Sweet. [chuckles] Funny. Sounds like someone's crushing big timeon Prince Mothballs. Look, all I know is we have gota big competition today, which means... we need to focus, okay? Yes? I have urgent business with the King. Anything that concerns the Kingconcerns me as well.It's a very delicate matter.I really should speakto His Royal Highness directly.I see.It would be such a shame to lose one's jobright before Christmas, wouldn't it?- But...- Hand me the envelope, Frank.But it's...Or would you prefer to hand in your resignation?No. No.Your Majesty.Oh, and, Frank, there seems to be a plumbing problemin the privy next to the study. Would you mind taking a look? It would be my great honor, Your Majesty. Your Grace. Thank you. Forgive me for speaking plainly, but that doesn't soundlike a very happy bride-to-be. My happiness isn't what matters. It's my duty. Oh, before I forget, Miss De Novo gave me this to give to you. It's a gift from Edward."Veritas, Anoris, Amare.""Truth, honor, and love."Funny thing,it doesn't say a word about duty.Remarkable resemblance,wouldn't you say?Apparently, she's a bakerat the competition in Wembley.Looks like a princess to me.[show host] Ladies and gentlemen,if you could please find your placesand make way to your seats.The competition is about to begin.- Looks like we're good to go.- Great. Stace, about last night...Let's just talk about iton the plane, okay?- Yeah.- Cool. Good afternoon, and welcometo Belgravia's 56th Annual International Christmas Baking Competition. The finest bakers from around the worldwill have five hoursto prepare the most spectacular Christmas cake.Only one will be crowned winner.And the competition begins...now.Darling!And how is the blushing bride-to-be?Very well, Your Majesty.Edward has been telling usabout your adventureat the shelter yesterday.I understand you madea lot of people very happy.She was magnificent, a born leader.I must say I'm very impressed.Thank you, Your Highness. You know, I'm feelinga bit under the weather.- I hope it's nothing serious.- No, it's just a bit of fatigue. Edward, would you be a doveand take my place with Margaretat the baking competition today? I'm supposed to be handing outsome ribbons, and I don't think I have the strength. Oh, yes, we'd be glad to. Something wrong, my dear? I... I don't know if we have the time.Of course we have the time.But the wedding... I would imagine the staffhas everything under control. Will you excuse me for a moment? More gold! More sparkles. This isn't a funeral. It's Christmas!- We're gonna need more poinsettias.- I'm on it! Those layers cool yet? Uh... Needs five more minutes.- I'm gonna start on the bunch of silly ribbons, just say so. We don't have to.No, we have to go.But...There's something need to tell you first. Sounds serious. Well done. Frank, we need to getto Wembley on the double. Now this should be interesting.- Oh, shut it, Frank.It's incredible presentation. And your sugar work is commendable. Thank you, judge. [judge] The filling is interesting. The puree isn't as smooth as I'd hoped. But it has a wonderful flavor. Nicely done, Zachary Brachmann of Munich, Germany. Well done, Zachary. In second Belgraviaand his fiancée, Duchess Margaret of Montenaro. Now if the winnerswould like to please join me on stagefor the awards ceremony. Thank you. You know, who needs a silly medal? I think we should go. Are you crazy? Stace, this is our moment. Yeah, but we're gonna be latefor the plane, so... I'm going up there, and you're coming with me. [show the co host] Ladies and gentlemen, Prince Edward and Duchess Margaret. [crowd applauding] And here it goes. What's going on? You wouldn't believe me if I told you. Try me. I think I can explain. There's two of you? - No. No. But we think that we may be related through some great, great someone in-law. - Cousin Cecil. - Yeah. I think we need a moment to ourselves.- Maybe let's go backstage.- Perfect.[Stacy]Let's go.Can someone please explainwhat's going on?This is my fault. How's that?All I wanted to do was to get to knowwhat it was like to be a normal girl. Even if it was only for a few days. When I saw Stacy, the idea just came to me.- You two switched places?- Yeah. You've been with Margaretform. the past two days. And Stacy has been with the Prince. I'm sorry. I didn't think things would getso complicated is an interesting word for it. But there's more. How can there be more? I like being normal. I hate being in the spotlight. Edward needs a partner who likestaking charge, who has a good heart. Someone who is meant to be a princess. Someone like Stacy. Wait. Me?I didn't plan any of this, but I suppose I found outI'm just a normal girls, they fall in love with normal boys. Like you. - But you're not Stacy. You're ... - Margaret Delacourt, Duchess of Montenaro. Aren't you supposed to marry the Prince? I know this is a little confusing, but... Lady Margaret is trying to Edward, I...I can't let you do this. Stacy. Stacy, wait! Please, stop. Edward, you can't be in love with me. - Says who? - It isn't right. Okay, things happen according to plan. Life happens according to plan, and this... This is not the way it was planned.- So you're saying you don't love me.- No, that's not what I'm saying.I love you more than I've ever lovedanyone in my whole life. Then I'm not giving you upwithout a fight. I'm not a duchess or a princess. I'm a baker from Chicago. You can't do that.Then you can open up another shop here.You can bake to your heart's content.As long as we're together.This is crazy.No, it's not.Don't you understand?Stacy, you're my destiny.This was the plan.We were meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're still in love with mea year from today, will you marry meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're still in love with mea year from today, will you marry meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're still in love with mea year from today, will you marry meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're my destiny.This was the plan.We were meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're my destiny.This was the plan.We were meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're my destiny.This was the plan.We were meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're my destiny.This was the plan.We were meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're my destiny.This was the plan.We were meant to be together.You can't really be serious.[crowd gasps]Stacy De Novo,if you're my destiny.
